

INFORMATION, AUTHORIZATION, & CONSENT TO TREATMENT

Welcome to Perimeter Therapy Associates. We are very pleased that you selected our facility for your therapy, and we are sincerely looking forward to assisting you. This document is designed to inform you about what you can expect from your therapist or group leader, policies regarding confidentiality and emergencies, and several other details regarding your treatment here at Perimeter Therapy Associates. Although providing this document is part of an ethical obligation to our profession, more importantly, it is part of our commitment to you to keep you fully informed of every part of your therapeutic experience. Please know that your relationship with your therapist or group leader is a collaborative one, and we welcome any questions, comments, or suggestions regarding your course of therapy at any time.

Theoretical Views & Client Participation

It is our belief that as people become more aware and accepting of themselves, they are more capable of finding a sense of peace and contentment in their lives. However, self-awareness and self-acceptance are goals that may take a long time to achieve. Some clients need only a few sessions to achieve these goals, whereas others may require months or even years of therapy. As a client, you are in complete control, and you may end your relationship with your therapist/group leader at any point.

In order for therapy to be most successful, it is important for you to take an active role. This means working on the things you and your therapist talk about both during and between sessions. This also means avoiding any mind-altering substances like alcohol or non-prescription drugs for at least eight hours prior to your therapy sessions. Generally, the more of yourself you are willing to invest, the greater the return.

Furthermore, it is our policy to only see clients who we believe have the capacity to resolve their own problems with our assistance. It is our intention to empower you in your growth process to the degree that you are capable of facing life's challenges in the future without the therapists here at Perimeter Therapy Associates. We also don't believe in creating dependency or prolonging therapy if the therapeutic intervention does not seem to be helping. If this is the case, your therapist will direct you to other resources that will be of assistance to you. Your personal development is our number one priority. We encourage you to let us know if you feel that transferring to another facility or another therapist is necessary at any time. Our goal is to facilitate healing and growth, and we are very committed to helping you in whatever way seems to produce maximum benefit.

Confidentiality & Records

Your communications with your therapist will become part of a clinical record of treatment, and it is referred to as Protected Health Information (PHI). Your PHI will be kept in a file stored in a locked cabinet in our business office. It is filed under your first name and last initial to protect your confidentiality to the fullest extent. Additionally, your therapist will always keep everything you say to him or her completely confidential, with the following exceptions: (1) you direct your therapist to tell someone else and you sign a “Release of Information” form; (2) your therapist determines that you are a danger to yourself or to others; (3) you report information about the abuse of a child, an elderly person, or a disabled individual who may require protection; or (4) your therapist is ordered by a judge to disclose information. In the latter case, your therapist’s license does provide him or her with the ability to uphold what is legally termed “privileged communication.” Privileged communication is your right as a client to have a confidential relationship with a counselor. The state of Georgia has a very good track record in respecting this legal right. If for some unusual reason a judge were to order the disclosure of your private information, this order can be appealed. We cannot guarantee that the appeal will be sustained, but we will do everything in our power to keep what you say confidential. As a client of Perimeter Therapy you are agreeing not to involve your clinician in any legal matters.

Please note that in couple’s counseling, your therapist does not agree to keep secrets. Information revealed in any context may be discussed with either partner.

If you engage in Group Therapy at Perimeter Therapy your private information will be protected by your Group Therapist exactly as in Individual Therapy. However, unlike for Individual Therapy, Perimeter Therapy cannot guarantee that other members of the group will keep information revealed in group sessions confidential. By signing this consent, you acknowledge that Perimeter Therapy cannot be held liable for any breaches of confidentiality caused by other group participants. It may also occur that some members of the group have the group therapist also as their individual therapist, while others do not. By signing this consent, you acknowledge this difference and agree to participate under these conditions. It is also possible that particular members may leave and/or join the group at various times. Signing this consent gives your agreement to participate under these changing conditions.

Structure and Cost of Sessions

Your Masters level therapist agrees to provide psychotherapy for the fee of $140.00 per 60 minute session, $175.00 per 75 minute session, and/or $210.00 per 90 minute therapy session, $60.00 per 90 minute group session, unless otherwise negotiated by you or your insurance company. Your PhD level therapist agrees to provide psychotherapy for the fee of $165.00 per 60 min session, $190.00 per 75 minute session, and/or $225.00 per 90 minute therapy session, unless otherwise negotiated by you or your insurance company. Doing psychotherapy by telephone is not ideal, and needing to talk to your therapist between sessions may indicate that you need extra support. If this is the case, you and your therapist will need to explore adding sessions or developing other resources you have available to help you. Telephone calls that exceed 10 minutes in duration will be billed at $2.00 per minute. The fee for each session will be due at the conclusion of the session. Cash, personal checks, Visa, and MasterCard are acceptable for payment, and we will provide you with a receipt of payment. The receipt of payment may also be used as a statement for insurance if applicable to you. Please note that there is a $25 fee for any returned checks.

Insurance companies have many rules and requirements specific to certain plans. Unless otherwise negotiated, it is your responsibility to find out your insurance company’s policies and to file for insurance reimbursement. We will be glad to provide you with a statement for your insurance company and to assist you with any questions you may have in this area.

Cancellation Policy

In the event that you are unable to keep an appointment, you must notify your therapist at least 24 hours in advance. If such advance notice is not received, you will be financially responsible for the session you missed. Please note that insurance companies do not reimburse for missed sessions.

In Case of an Emergency

Perimeter Therapy Associates is considered to be an outpatient facility, and we are set up to accommodate individuals who are reasonably safe and resourceful. We do not carry beepers nor are we available at all times. If at any time this does not feel like sufficient support, please inform your therapist, and he or she can discuss additional resources or transfer your case to a therapist or clinic with 24-hour availability. Generally, your therapist will return phone calls within 24-48 hours. If you have a mental health emergency, we encourage you not to wait for a call back, but to do one or more of the following:

- Call Ridgeview Institute at 770.434.4567 or Georgia crisis line 1-800-715-4225.
- Call 911.
- Go to your nearest emergency room.

Professional Relationship

Psychotherapy is a professional service we will provide to you. Because of the nature of therapy, your relationship with your therapist has to be different from most relationships. It may differ in how long it lasts, the objectives, or the topics discussed. It must also be limited to only the relationship of therapist and client. If you and your therapist were to interact in any other ways, you would then have a "dual relationship," which could prove to be harmful to you in the long run and is, therefore, unethical in the mental health profession. Dual relationships can set up conflicts between the therapist's interests and the client's interests, and then the client's (your) interests might not be put first. In order to offer all of our clients the best care, your therapist's judgment needs to be unselfish and purely focused on your needs. This is why your relationship with your therapist must remain professional in nature.

Additionally, there are important differences between therapy and friendship. Friends may see your position only from their personal viewpoints and experiences. Friends may want to find quick and easy solutions to your problems so that they can feel helpful. These short-term solutions may not be in your long-term best interest. Friends do not usually follow up on their advice to see whether it was useful. They may need to have you do what they advise. A therapist offers you choices and helps you choose what is best for you. A therapist helps you learn how to solve problems better and make better decisions. A therapist's responses to your situation are based on tested theories and methods of change.

You should also know that therapists are required to keep the identity of their clients secret. As much as your therapist would like to, for your confidentiality he or she will not address you in public unless you speak to him or her first. Your therapist also must decline any invitation to attend gatherings with your family or friends. Lastly, when your therapy is completed, your therapist will not be able to be a friend to you like your other friends. In sum, it is the duty of your therapist to always maintain a professional role. Please note that these guidelines are not meant to be discourteous in any way, they are strictly for your long-term protection.

Statement Regarding Ethics, Client Welfare & Safety

Perimeter Therapy Associates assures you that our services will be rendered in a professional manner consistent with the ethical standards of the American Psychological Association and/or the American Counseling Association and/or the National Association of Social Workers. If at any time you feel that your therapist is not performing in an ethical or professional manner, we ask that you please let him or her know immediately. If the two of you are unable to resolve your concern, please contact Heather Youngblood, LCSW (e.g., Agency Director) at 678-666-4717.

Due to the very nature of psychotherapy, as much as we would like to guarantee specific results regarding your therapeutic goals, we are unable to do so. However, your therapist, with your participation, will work to achieve the best possible results for you. Please also be aware that changes made in therapy may affect other people in your life. For example, an increase in your assertiveness may not always be welcomed by others. It is our intention to help you manage changes in your interpersonal relationships as they arise, but it is important for you to be aware of this possibility nonetheless.

Additionally, at times people find that they feel somewhat worse when they first start therapy before they begin to feel better. This may occur as you begin discussing certain sensitive areas of your life. However, a topic usually isn't sensitive unless it needs attention. Therefore, discovering the discomfort is actually a success. Once you and your therapist are able to target your specific treatment needs and the particular modalities that work the best for you, help is generally on the way.

Therapy Termination

If you choose to end therapy without discussing your decision with your therapist and simply fail to attend a scheduled session, your therapist will call you one time to follow up with you. If your therapist does not hear from you, your therapy is considered terminated at that time and a termination/closing statement will be placed in your file.

We are sincerely looking forward to facilitating you on your journey toward healing and growth. If you have any questions about any part of this document, please ask your therapist.

Please print, date, and sign your name below indicating that you have read and understand the contents of this form, you agree to the policies of your relationship with your therapist/group leader, and you are authorizing your therapist/group leader to begin treatment with you.

Regarding adolescents, parents have the right to examine all records of their minor child; however, in your child's best interest, Perimeter Therapy Associates asks that you waive that right, and allow your clinician to maintain therapeutic confidentiality. Your clinician will always inform parents if they have reason to believe that a child is in danger in any way. If your child is 18 or older, clinicians will need his/her explicit consent in order to communicate with you, regardless of who is paying for the sessions.
